Cork Textiles Network Membership

Established in 1998, Cork Textiles Network is a collective membership body for artists and makers who use textiles in their practise. We promote artistic development through education, skill sharing and communication, as well as by providing exhibition opportunities to members.

While based in Cork, we have members from all over, and offer membership to anyone interested in textiles and fibre art, who wish to progress their career in textiles or simply enjoy being part of a textile community.

Outside our other events, we have two meetings a year, in February and October, to which all members are invited to attend to be updated in the activities of the network and participate in the development of future activities and direction of the group.
